

FBI Newark Evidence Response Team

The FBI Newark Field Office has three full time Evidence Response Teams (ERT) consisting of both Special Agent and Support personnel. Personnel are trained to conduct searches following a logical 12-Step Process. This process enables ERTs to conduct searches in a systematic, logical, and comprehensive manner. Furthermore, this process includes key elements necessary to conduct forensic searches and searches in hazardous environments. The presentation will focus on the 12-step process, the responsibilities and/or roles of ERT personnel, the capabilities of ERT as well as personnel at the laboratory and the documentation necessary to fully memorialize the crime scene.
